Successful Summer School Ends July 17

THE FOURTH CELEBRATED IN GRAND STYLE SATURDAY

Bell Hall, Represented By Dutch
Lads and Lassies Wins
Float—Stunt Prize

The most magnificent Fourth of July celebration in the history of the college was staged Saturday afternoon as students, faculty, and guests witnessed Fowler's Follies in their fifth annual appearance.

In the parade were well-planned floats, colorfully decorated to represent different nations. The line of march was over the principal streets of the city, bordered by enthusiastic spectators.

Upon their return to the campus each of the different dormitory groups gave a skit before fifteen hundred spectators, all wearing holiday colors. Japan was represented by Atkinson Hall; Holland, by Bell; Hawaii, by Bell Annex; Greece, by Terrell and Terrell A; France, by Terrell B and C; Spain, by Mansion; Turkey, by Ennis; Egypt, by Town Students; and the United States, by the Y. W. C. A. The decision of the judges went to Bell Hall.

The occasional downpour during the day did not dampen the ardor of the students or spectators. Mr. L. S. Fowler said, "I believe we had the most magnificent celebration ever pulled off by the college."

POPULAR PROGRAM GIVEN BY MR. AND MRS. MARTIN

A delightful "trip around the world," in two hours, was given last Tuesday evening in the auditorium by Mr. J. O. Martin, State School Supervisor and Mrs. J. O. Martin, member of extension department of G. S. C. W.

The first part of the entertainment consisted of two reels of movie scenes taken on the trip. Mrs. Martin explained the pictures as they appeared on the screen. The second part consisted of hundreds of slides in color, showing people and scenes from many lands.

Another interesting feature was an exhibition of a number of articles gathered from different sections of the world.

Book of Ruth Beautifully Presented

Miss Anna B. Cooper presented the Book of Ruth at the Y. W. C. A. vesper service June 28. She stood before a large screen draped in oriental colors and wore a gentian-blue crepe costume draped in Eastern fashion. Miss Cooper was coached for the performance by Dr. A. C. Hunter who also planned the accompanying pageant effects. The atmosphere of the time and land of Ruth was suggested by a company of college girls directed by Miss Moss, secretary of the association.

Replying to a question as to the feasibility of such performances by students Dr. Hunter said Friday to

TWO ENTERTAINMENTS WILL BE GIVEN BY THE CLASS IN PLAY PRODUCTION

On July 8, the first two plays of the class in Play Production will be given. A puppet play, "The Maid Who Wouldn't Be Proper," and the dramatic arrangement of Robert Louis Stevenson's "The Sire De Maletroit's Door," have been chosen for presentation.

The first play is good material for those teaching in the grades, because of the whimsical treatment which endears it to children, and because of the value of this type of acting from an historical standpoint.

When actors were forbidden by the church to perform in person, the Italians of the Middle Ages made dolls or marionettes manipulated by strings. They later made life-sized dolls or manikins. All the players in "The Maid Who Wouldn't Be Proper" act as manikins.

Those who will act in this play are: Edna Tigner, Augusta Methvin, Sara Murry, Ardaeli Loyd, Ruth Wilder and Flora Nelson.

The natural love of romance common to persons of high school age, can be used by teachers in a story such as "The Sire De Maletroit's Door." The actors in this play will be:

Lula Rollins, Johnnie Hilburn, Elizabeth Townsend and Clara Webb.

On July 10, "The Little Clay Cart" possibly more often acted than any other except the Greek Classics, will be given in modified form. It is possibly fifteen hundred years old, with a plot sufficiently complex to hold the interest of the modern public as it has that of the natives of India. The players will be:

Sue Stone, Selma Sherrer, Vondelle Osborne, Bernice Johnston and Brunelle Deal.

Also, Lord Dunsany's "A Night At An Inn" will be presented as a good example of a play for all types of people. The actors will be:

Mildred Potter, Wylene Collins, Virginia Newsome and Mary Merrit.

In each play presented there will be actors other than those named and each play is produced by a staff of amateur technicians.

Co-eds Delight Large Audience

The comedy, "Mrs. Jiggs Gives a Musical Tea," written and produced by Mrs. E. R. Hines of this city, was presented at the G. S. C. W. Auditorium June 23.

The charming co-eds who were the characters in the comedy were delightfully amusing in their feminine attire, the latest from Paris, as they daintily skipped upon the stage to the tune of Turkey in the Straw. The imaginary movie was highly amusing due to its deep dark mystery and its touching tragedy.

The part of Mrs. Jiggs was portrayed by Mr. O. A. Thaxton, Jr., of Milledgeville and the part of Jane, the maid, by Mr. J. C. Cato of Averara. The guests at the tea were: Messrs. William Barron, Emory Chandler, Jack Davenport, Julian Lockhart, Albert Quillian, Edwin Scott, Jr., and Elton Baker of Milledgeville and Mr. Charles Winn of Meriwether.

The cast of the imaginary moving picture were: Douglas Fairbanks by J. M. Hall of Milledgeville; Mary Pickford by J. L. Hardin of Averara; Rudy Vallee by Austin Williams of Milledgeville; Charlie Chaplin by J. L. Walker of Blackshear; Wallace Beary by Zack Folds of Eatonton; Ben Turpin by J. D. Smith of Rockledge; Harold Lloyd by R. L. Rabun of Wrens; Oliver Hardy by L. C. Parrish of Pinepark; and Al Jolson by H. M. Linkous of Warthen.

MARGARET DURDEN BECOMES PRESIDENT OF THE SENIORS

Miss Margaret Darden, of Graymont, has been elected president of the summer school senior class of the Georgia State College for Women. The members of this class will receive degrees in July. The other officers are Miss Lucile Davis, of Milledgeville, vice-president; Miss Dixie Neal, of Summerville, secretary; and Miss Julia Heisler, of Thomasville, treasurer.

There will also be a group of two year students who will receive certificates and their class officers are Miss Margaret Hansard, of Atlanta, president; Miss Frances Keller, of Blackshear, vice-president; Miss Frances Kaigler, of Georgetown, secretary; and Miss Frances E. Williams, of Hilton, treasurer.

COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS BY DEAN SCOTT

Dean Edwin H. Scott, Director of Summer School, has been invited by President Spright Dowell to deliver the commencement address of Mercer University, August 24.

Two years ago Dean Scott was obliged to decline a similar invitation on account of the fact that he was making a tour of the East at the time of the close of the Mercer Summer School.

G. S. C. W. SCHOLARSHIP

It is gratifying to note improvement in the scholarship of G. S. C. W., the rank of which was already unquestionably high among southern institutions.

This year the honor point system was instituted. The plan has worked so well that only a small percentage of the students had to remain for the summer school because they lacked a few honor points for graduation.

This fact alone speaks well for the institution. Pres. Beeson and Deans Scott and Wynn are also high in praise of the renewed interest that students have taken in the quality of their work.

The college is a member of all the various educational associations of the United States and has the distinction of being not only a Teachers' College, but also a College of Arts and Sciences as well.

HARD TIMES

"Grumblers" are not health producers. People should stop blaming Herbert Hoover, or some other person in authority and examine their own financial principles. This so-called depression is no new thing. People have forgotten how to live within their means. They spend two dollars when they have only one and seem not to understand the difference in the two words, "luxury" and "necessity."

The present tax system is partly to blame for conditions. Comparatively few people are bearing the burden while the class of salaried, non-property owners, below the income-tax group, go tax free. There are thousands of people who bear no tax burden, yet reap more of the benefits than those who contribute to the support of the government.

Also, hard times as a subject of conversation should receive less attention. If a child is told that he is sick, very soon he has a headache or a pain in his stomach! Old people are grown-up children and too much sympathy may produce disastrous results. When people talk hard times, the times get hard. Let them think of the little man, gray haired and shriveled with old age, who was never too sick to answer "I am fine" to the question "How are you?"

SPIRIT OF THE SUMMER SCHOOL

"Have you noticed how happy the girls seem in their work?" asked one of the ladies on the campus. Much has been said about lending a helping hand; the summer school body offers a strong helping hand to any who may be in need. Some of the students are away from home for the first time, and may be clamoring for the friendly smiles so abundant on the campus. Evidence of good fellowship is seen everywhere. Seldom does one go from class to class, but that she passes a dozen girls who have a snappy "Hello" or cheerful "Howdy"—and lots of smiles. The life of the student is full in this constantly growing world, but it requires practically no time to send forth that great big smile which means so much. It does take time to press the faucet for a fellow student with an armful of books; yet many similar acts of kindness are being done daily on the campus. There may be pure gold deep down inside, but we can't ask the busy world to stop and mine us to find it out. Meet a friend with kindness, happiness, cheerfulness and note the response that never fails, "Smile and the world smiles with you."

LIBRARY IS POPULAR

From a recent study of the library records for the summer session some information was obtained which should be of interest. There were 886 books on reserve used in one day. An average of 23 fiction books are taken from the library daily. The greatest number of students using the library in one day was 1079; the greatest number of books checked out was 254. Average daily attendance is 793. The library is most popular on Mondays and Tuesdays.

CAREER VS. HOME

The old question which has been before young women for years, whether they prefer married life to a career, is still one that is hard to settle.

Married life is all right for some types of women, those who can be happy and contented as such. The girl longing for a career in any field is never satisfied to sit quietly at home while her husband does all of the work.

Of course there are exceptions to every rule but the average man likes to feel that the woman he is in love with is dependent on him, even though the present day tendency is towards independence socially, politically and in every other way. Men still like the clinging-vine type.

If the wife works everything may go on all right for a while; soon the husband realizes that his wife is perfectly capable of taking care of herself, so he allows her to do it. In later years when she decides to settle down and stay at home, she is very much surprised to find that her husband is not so willing to part with his money for her every whim as she had imagined he would be. Therefore, if you choose married life, don't work, there's enough for you to do at home, be the clinging-vine type.

THE BIBLE AS LITERATURE

The course in Old Testament Literature offered during the spring semester, was one of the most fascinating and broadening courses on the campus. We can readily realize its importance of noting its place in the curricula of the colleges and universities of today.

The course was more popular last semester than ever before. The Old Testament was considered as literature and not from a theological or sectarian point of view.

At least one course in Bible Literature should be offered each semester.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

When Mrs. L. A. Key, Matron in Terrell B. and C, was approached by a somewhat timid student and asked for some of the expressions used in her day that were explanatory of her grade, or the result of some test, she raised her brow questioningly.

"We say 'flunk' when we fail on a subject," encouraged the student. "What did you say?" "We had no such word because we were not permitted to fail," she said assuringly. "If we did unsatisfactory work we were kept in until we got it, or were switched outright." "And another thing, child, slang was not permitted either at home or at school. Why if my family had heard me using slang expressions, they would have 'eaten me alive.'"

THE LIBRARY ASSISTANT

The student timidly walks up to the railing in the library.

"What book do you want?" a library assistant pleasantly asks.

"I want that little blue book that they use in health. It is just about an inch thick," is the reply.

The library assistants are constantly being confronted with problems of this type. It would be easier and take less time if the person desiring assistance would get the name of the book and its author before asking for help.

Library helpers cannot remember all the books each teacher has on reserve. Then too, they desire to serve the students promptly. There are some who complain because they

THEN AND NOW

By A Member of The Class of 1917

Change is inevitable and to be desired if progress be made. So it is with great pride that an alumna of more than a decade comes back to summer school and notes the changes that have taken place since she wore the brown and white.

There are new buildings and new buildings. There are Ennis Hall, Bell Hall, Arts building and Russell auditorium. Then, too, Atkinson Hall wears a beautiful new front and now feels that her "make-up" rates with any of the others. These are the material changes, seen at a glance; but it is obvious that some things are not changed. That most beloved and mourned Dr. Parks is not here in person, but happily the spirit of democracy and unselfish service that he lived are manifestly revered and maintained loyally by Dr. J. L. Beeson.

Some of the other familiar faces on the campus are Dean Scott, Mrs. Hines, Miss Barnett, Miss Jenkins Dr. Bolton and Mrs. Wilder.

No familiar face is seen at the Matron's table in the dining room. Even the cooks are all strange. "Aunt Mandy" is gone and none but Gene has survived the ups and downs of the years. Cornelius brings lack a mental picture of Main Building which was burned. He now hears poorly but looks about as he did long ago.

One other minor change was noted with a pang at first. The fountain, the gift of the class, cooling the atmosphere and making a home for the gold fish and other water specimen at its base, now is a kind of rock garden. It must have been changed for some good reason.

These things are all noted by the long absent college daughter with pride in the expansion of her alma mater; however, there comes one regret: the alumna can only send a quartet of co-eds to summer school, no brown skirts to continue the heritage.

FACULTY WISELY CHOSEN

It is a wise president Who knows just what to do To get the best teachers For his summer school crew—Dr. Beeson, hats off to you!

To the campus they came spryly, shyly, quickly, slowly, the teachers that were chosen. They are old folks, new folks, witty folks, wise folks, and serious folks.

From East to West, many different states, these pedagogues came to serve the summer school of the Georgia State College for Women. Eighteen claim for their native state Georgia; two, Florida; two Mississippis; one, Canada; one, from each of the following: Minnesota, West Virginia, Michigan, Texas, Massachusetts, South Carolina and Pennsylvania.

Then, too, their "rating" is good. Eight have Ph.D. degrees; one has a Litt. D. degree; one has a Sc. D. degree; ten have M. A. degrees; one has a Ph. M. degree; five have B. S. degrees; one has a M. S. degree; three have A. B. degrees.

If you fail a good record to make, "The fault, dear friend," may be you.

cannot get a look just at the time when they ask for it. Patience must at times be exercised.

The best recipe for students using the library is be kind, considerate, and patient and the assistants will serve them with accuracy and promptness.

Jokes

Teacher: "Who can name four seasons?"

The red-headed one: "I can" came a quick answer accompanied by a waving hand, "They are salt, pepper, vinegar and mustard."

A man entered a down town cafe and ordered a dozen rotten bananas. The waiter filled the order as best he could watching the man from the corner of his eye while he devoured the spoiled fruit. "Now I want a regular dinner," he ordered, "I have to feed my tape worm first, then myself."

An Englishman came to America to give a series of lectures. He was not familiar with American slang and colloquialisms. He met a charming co-ed in one of our universities who asked him what he was doing in America. He replied that he came to deliver English lectures. The co-ed gave a jolly laugh and said carelessly, "Whaddery know 'bout that?"

Seriously he answered, "I may not know much about it, but I'm going to try it." "Attaboy" she laughed and the dumfounded Englishman knew nothing else to say but, "Attagirl." For Oscar Barr. Please shed a tear; He cranked his car— 'Twas still in gear.

FASHION SHOW COMES JULY 6

A fashion show, directed by Miss Thelma Hall of the Household Art Department, will be given Monday evening, July 6 by students in this department. All the dresses are of cotton goods and have been made by the students themselves.

JULY 13 IS PLAY DAY

Play Day will be observed by the students of the college Monday, July 13. The program consists of plays, games, rhythms, and pantomimes, featuring playing with each other rather than against each other. Games are centered around the idea of a Festival of Gifts because the old traditional plays and games are veritable racial gifts that have been handed down from time immemorial, ever telling the story of man's hopes, aspirations, wishes, and desires in his ceaseless struggle to make a home for himself in an unfriendly world.

Miss Catherine Park, girl scout executive, was a visitor on the G. S. C. W. campus Friday, July 3. She gave inspiring talks to students interested in scouting.

Miss Leone Matheson, representative of the National Red Cross, will visit the college July 7-9, with an exhibit and will address the students.

FACULTY MEMBERS PLANNING VACATIONS

With the end of summer school rapidly approaching, the G. S. C. W. faculty members are busy planning their vacations. Some will leave Milledgeville for extended trips to various parts of the United States, some will study, some will visit, and others expect to enjoy their vacations at home.

Dr. Francis P. Daniels, accompanied by Mrs. Daniels, will spend his vacation on his farm at Alto, Michigan.

After spending three weeks at her home in Marks, Mississippi, Mrs. Fern E. Dorris will travel in the New England States.

Miss Ruth Scarbrough will be in Atlanta working on her thesis for her Ph. D. degree.

Dr. Henry F. White expects to spend his vacation in New York City.

Several members of the faculty will be at their homes. They are Dr. Amanda Johnson, Rochester, Minnesota; Miss Louise Smith, Bowden, Georgia; Miss Malissa Gies, Sandesville, Georgia; Dr. Euri Belle Bolton, Parrott, Georgia; Miss Clara Webb, Fitzgerald, Georgia; Mrs. M. F. Wilder, Jacksonville, Florida; Miss Mary Bynum, Doonville, Mississippi; Miss Gussie Tabb, Stellaville, Georgia; Mr. O. A. Thaxton, Milledgeville, Georgia; and Mrs. Nelle Womack Hines, Milledgeville, who is smilingly says, "I shall spend the rest of the summer at home, nursing my grandchildren."

After spending two weeks in New York, Mrs. LaFleur will go to Gainesville, Georgia, to spend the remainder of her vacation.

Miss Winifred Crowell will visit in Nova Scotia, Toronto, and Detroit. Miss Mamie Padgett plans also go to Detroit.

Dr. and Mrs. Sidney L. McGee will enjoy their vacation at Mountain Lake Park, Maryland.

Visiting the summer school's in Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, and South Carolina, and incidentally visiting with the writers of note enroute will be the manner in which Dr. William T. Wynn will spend his vacation.

The faculty members who are planning to seek more knowledge during the remainder of the summer are Misses Katherine Scott and Mary Brooks, who will go to the University of North Carolina; Miss Anna E. Miller, who will study in Chicago; and Miss Blanche Tait, who will attend Peabody.

Miss Maggie Jenkins will go to Minneapolis, Minnesota, where she plans to study public school music at MacPhail School of Music.

After spending two weeks in Hampton, Virginia, Mrs. Bernice Brown McCullar will camp on the Chattahoochee the remainder of the summer.

Dr. George Webber is planning a trip to Pennsylvania, after which will go as a delegate to the World Federation of Educational Associations at Denver, Colorado.

A boat trip, with special visit to Boston, and Portland, will be the vacation of Miss Ruth Stone.

"I shall have no vacation" says Dr. Luther C. Lindsley, "for I expect to spend the rest of my time teaching at the second term of Emory summer school."

WHEN WILL TEACHING BECOME A PROFESSION?

"Born teachers and made teachers." This saying has come down to us through the ages. We have fewer born teachers it seems and the demand for the so-called made teachers results in make-shifts—those who use teaching as a stepping stone to something they think is better.

The query that naturally arises is, "When will teaching become a profession?" This ideal will be reached when every teacher shows a professional attitude toward her work; When she speaks with respect of what she considers a life task; When she has developed a real personality and a real enthusiasm for her teaching; When she has an open mind for new trends in education.

Only when a teacher has proved her loyalty to these criteria can she become a part of the greatest profession in the world.

FOUNTAINS INSTALLED

Students of the summer school are grateful for the installation of drinking fountains in the various buildings on the campus. Cool water is now easily available and sanitary conditions are perfect.

PEABODY PRACTICE SCHOOL PRESENTS FOUR ACT PLAY

"We gladly accept your invitation to attend your party and bring our butter."

This was the reply which the second grade pupils of the Peabody Practice School received in return for an invitation which they extended to the first grade immediately following the presentation of the play, "Cupid and Psyche." The four act play was written and presented by the intermediate grades and directed by Miss Katherine Butts of Milledgeville and Miss Nellie Hitt of Augusta.

Those taking part in the play were Phillip Chandler as Cupid, Anne Sallee as Psyche, Priscilla Bright as Venus, Ollie Mae Stenbridge as a page, Florence Akins as king, Ruth Banks as queen and Cornelia Stenbridge and Annette Rogers as maids.

The stage managers were Dovie Chandler, head manager, Barbara Anne Conn, and Fred Coleman.

Groups of the students presented interesting choruses between acts.

The play marked the close of the summer session of the practice school, which was in operation for two weeks.

The butter was the final result of the efforts of the first grade, under direction of Miss Mary Reese Bynum of Mississippi in working out a unit on milk. The second grade bought graham crackers, the first grade brought their butter and the two had a party. Children under nine years old ate butter and crackers. Those over nine had a lily cup.

HURRY ELEMENT AT G. S. C. W.

Hurry, scurry, flurry! What a characteristic trait of summer school students at the Georgia State College for Women! They are always in a hurry, for there is ever before them a seemingly impossible amount of work that must be accomplished within a limited time.

Some of them arise in the morning at 6:55, dash madly about in their rooms in an attempt to get dressed for breakfast by 7:00. Having finished breakfast, they hasten to clean their rooms, get their books together, and to classes by eight o'clock.

And so throughout the day, the hurry element rules. Students are continuously scampering to and fro across the campus, some going to classes, others hastening to the library to get a book before someone else does. There are references to be read and outlined, posters to be made, textbooks to be studied, special assignments to be prepared, term papers to be written—always something to do. G. S. C. W. students seem never to be able to catch up with their work.

Repose comes at last with the ringing of the light bell at ten-thirty. By that time the weary students are ready to retire, ever mindful of the fact that within eight hours they must resume their schedule of "hurry, scurry, flurry."

THE COLUMNS

Tall—majestic—quiet—strong they stand as they support all that is beautiful and noble in the life of the womanhood on our campus. As the hurrying throng passes to and fro they can but feel the inspiration that comes from the graceful Corinthian columns.

These columns have come to us from a people whose only thought was of beauty—beauty of perfection. This perfection is felt by all who pass along. But G. S. C. W. has come to attach something more than perfection of beauty to these columns. She has added a soul to this beauty—a soul of truth and love—and highness of life.

WHAT NEXT?

"Say, Miss, would you mind helpin' me wid my church?" "With what?" "Wid my church, Miss. Yo' see our pastor, he wants to go to conference in July, an' he's got us beggin' money to send him wid." "But I haven't any money with me."

"Well yo' can bring it when yo' comes down to supper." "But I don't eat over here, I stay across campus."

"Well, well, I's sho' sorry, Miss. I's sorry."

Such was the conversation which took place between Rachel, maid in Terrell Hall, and a student last Friday afternoon as the student was leaving the library.

Teachers are expected to do a multitude of things. They are called upon to coach plays, to organize clubs, to play the church organ, to sing, to teach in Sunday School, and now they are asked to help defray the expenses of negro preachers to conference! What next?

HISTORY MUSEUM GROWS

The Museum, begun two years ago by the History Club, has rapidly developed. The first donation was made by Miss Irma Vaughn, of Cartersville. Since that time people from nearly every county in Georgia have made contributions of Confederate money, documents, pictures, urns, pottery and other valuable collections.

Y. W. C. A. FURNISHES PROGRAMS

The Y. W. C. A. of the Georgia State College for Women is furnishing some interesting programs for the summer school session.

This organization has complete supervision of Bible study, Vesper services, Morning watch and "sings."

Bible study is held each Sunday morning at ten o'clock in the auditorium at which time some member of the faculty addresses the students. June the fourteenth, Dr. George H. Webber spoke on "Pushing Out into the Deep." June the 21st, Miss Polly Moss, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., gave a talk on "Adventurous Living." June the 28th, Dr. William Wynn spoke on "The Aim of Education." June the 5th, Miss K. K. Scott spoke on "Life's Test." June the 12th will be the last Bible study and Mr. O. A. Thaxton will speak on this question, "Am I approaching Life at its Best?"

Vesper services are given each Sunday evening at 7:30.

Morning watch, a short devotional, is held on Thursday and Sunday at 7:30 in the morning. Each dormitory has individual services.

The "sings" are given out doors, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30. Everybody has opportunity to take part in these programs.

A tea was given on June the 19th, to which everyone was invited.

A play "All Aboard," written and directed by Mrs. Nellie Womack Hines was given July the first.

The Y. W. C. A. programs have all been greatly enjoyed.

MRS. HINES PRESENTS PLAY

"All aboard for Macon, Devereaux, New York, San Francisco and New Orleans," yelled the train caller.

"Get on out to track eight, Moses," prompted Sallye the blond sales-girl. "Come on you Rosebud Honey-suckle," screamed her ma, heavily laden with baggage.

Thus began the comic farce "All Aboard." The play was full of witty sayings and amused the audience in the G. S. C. auditorium July 2. Mrs. Hines directed the play sponsored by the Y. W. C. A.

The characters exceedingly well suited to their parts were: Mr. Oscie Thaxton, Misses Bootsie Huff, Marion Keith, Hannah Forehard, Mary Snow Johnson, Elizabeth Cowart, Mable Underwood, Margaret Linkous, Dot Smith, Evelyn Biggers, Theo Hoteh, Mary Eberhart, Phyllis Pace, Anna O'Leary, Eugenia Key, Meta Pace, Rachael Smith, Regina Williams, Elizabeth Christie, Emily Cowart, Mary Moss, Maurine Johnson, Bess Bell, Susie Dell Reamy, Martha Chapman, Marian Sparrow, Marguerite Arthur, Gussie Tabb, Mary Rogers, Bobby Burns, and Vera Hunt.

LIVELY PLAY OF SEAFOLK COMES JULY 14

"Admiral Guinea" a lively story of seafolk, by Robert Louis Stevenson and W. E. Kenley, will be presented Tuesday night July 14 at 8:15 by members of the English Department directed by Dr. Alice C. Hunter with the scenic effects directed by Dr. George Harris Webber. The scene is laid in the neighborhood of Barnstaple about the year 1760. Those taking part are: Grace Whigham as John Gaunt, "Admiral Guinea"; Reaux Mitchum as Arethusa Gaunt; Nelle Edwards as David Pew; Paunce Rigsby as Kit French; Annette Cox as Mrs. Drake. A chorus has been arranged to appear between acts directed by Miss Maggie Jenkins.

Dentist Speaks to Summer School

The address of Dr. Holmes Mason of Macon was enthusiastically received by the students of the summer session of G. S. C. W. during the chapel hour Tuesday morning.

"Paying Back" was the subject on which Dr. Mason spoke, holding the interest of the group throughout his address as he gave high points of history and apt quotations to illustrate his ideas. "Service", he said, "is the rent which we pay for our space in this old world."

Dr. Mason was introduced by Dr. E. A. Tigner, well known dentist of Milledgeville and a trustee of G. S. C. W.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS ADDRESS ENGLISH CLASS

During the term Mrs. Bernice Brown McCullar has varied the program in one of her English classes by having prominent people of the city speak on subjects with which they were most familiar.

Mrs. J. L. Beeson's subject was "The Discovery of the Real Daughters." Mr. Frank Evans spoke on "The Tariff." Supt. P. N. Bivins used as his subject "The Value of English to the Teacher."

I THOUGHT

I thought that I must reach
Up and up
And touch the gate of Heaven with my fingertips
To find God.

I thought that I must look
Beyond the cloud
And touch the gate of Heaven with my vision
To see God.

I thought that I must wait
And strive and yearn
And grope up to the gate of Heaven
To find God.

But while I reached and strained my eyes
And groped
I felt a Tenderness—I saw it and knew it all around me.
It was God.

WISE EXPENDITURE OF TIME

The wise expenditure of time is a problem that summer school students would do well to consider. Real education may be obtained from different sources.

The campus entertainments serve a two-fold purpose—they offer both recreation and instruction.

Next, the instructors are ambitious to render effective service. Students do well to give careful attention to class room instructions.

Then, too, students may secure information from the bulletin boards from the library, and from association with other students.

Most important of all are the privileges offered to learn more of the Creator through the church services, vespers, morning watch, and Sunday School.

Students would do well not to neglect any opportunities offered for self-improvement.
